When a consulting idea becomes a standardised software solution – this is how Synabi was founded in 2016 as a spin-off of the BI consultancy b.telligent. Since then, Synabi, as an owner-managed company, combines the implementation of its own software solution D-QUANTUM with individual consultancy in data management.

With more than 60 employees from the areas of product consulting, technology and product development, a well established team serves customers from various industries. Synabi can thus fall back on many years of experience in the implementation of BI, DWH and data governance projects.
